MUSSEL IS BOTHERING THEM.

Whether He Is Good to Eat Is the Question.

Whether or not the common black mussel, a brother to the clam, and abounding on the Massachusetts coast, is a fit article of food is a question agitating the experts of the Fish Commission. Prof. Irving Field has had them stewed, roasted, boiled, broiled, and fried and says they are fine. He also has some of them canned and is willing to go on record they are as good as canned beans.

Chief Clerk Dunlop, on the other hand, has dined but once on mussel, and he says it makes him sick to look at them. The Fish Commission is trying to find if there is a market for the "wild animal," expecting to introduce them to epicures.

Readings for the Blind.

Following is the programme for volunteer readings and music in the reading room for the blind at the Library of Congress—2:30 to 3:30 p. m.: Tuesday, October 23, Hon. Almsworth R. Spofford; Thursday, song, violin, and piano recital, Miss Flora Bernheimer, Mrs. Clara Moran Bernheimer, and Mr. Ernest Szemlenski; Saturday, Miss Mary Forbes.

The readings and musicals at the Library are primarily for the benefit of the blind. Other persons will be admitted up to the seating capacity of the room, which will, however, accommodate only fifty persons, in addition to the blind and their escorts. The first fifty persons coming will be seated, and after that the doors will be closed to the general public.

NEW DIME SAVINGS BANK.

Soon to Open for Business at Eighth and G Streets Northwest.

Preparations are almost completed for launching the Dime Savings Bank of Washington. The bank will be located at Eighth and G streets northwest, where the ground floor will be used as the banking room and offices of the corporation. It will be operated in the interests of the small wage earner as well as the large salaried employee of the government or industrial organization. Savings deposits as low as 10 cents will be accepted, with a maximum of $3,000. Interest will be paid on these deposits.

The idea of a dime savings bank for this city, on the plan of successful institutions of the kind in New York and Baltimore, was first suggested to Mr. Maurice D. Rosenberg, of the firm of Wolf & Rosenberg, last June. In August the bank was incorporated under the laws of Virginia, which require that the initial meeting be held in that State. A meeting was held in Alexandria at which many stockholders were present, and the stock of $50,000 was over-subscribed.

At the meeting officers and directors were elected as follows:

Maurice D. Rosenberg, president; John B. Harrell, first vice president; D. W. Baker, second vice president; William Montgomery, secretary; John F. Collins, auditor; Alexander Wolf, general counsel; John M. Riedman, cashier.

Directors—Ross P. Andrews, William Blum, Max Cohen, Floyd E. Davis, R. J. Eamshaw, William A. Engel, Harry Friedlander, Albert S. Gasker, Justice Ashley M. Gould, William A. Hall, William A. Bennett, Louis J. Jackson, Harry King, Monroe A. Knight, Joseph Sanders, Harry Standford, Edward Swing, Dr. Clarence M. Weaver, C. G. Wilson, and Harry B. Denham.

NATIONAL FLOWER SHOW.

Plans Progressing for Combined Exhibit of Florists.

What promises to be the greatest flower show and one of the most notable society events in the history of the Capital is scheduled to occur at the National Rifles Armory on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, November 12 to 14. At that time all the florists of the city will occupy the building in a competitive floral display, the entire proceeds of which are to be turned over to the Associated Charities.

The committee on arrangements—George H. Cooke, William F. Gude, and P. H. Kramer—yesterday announced the tentative plans for the show. The committee was recently appointed by the Florists' Club, and has been able to secure the cooperation not only of all members of the club, but of practically every florist in the District and some from other cities. The officers of the Associated Charities are also taking an active part in the plans.

The show is to be in the nature of a national flower competition, and, although no cash prizes are to be awarded, keen interest is being taken in making elaborate preparations for such attractive exhibits as will secure to the competitors certificates of merit. A small entry fee is charged, but no limit geographically has been put upon those who may enter displays.

The exhibition is planned to be one of much greater pretension than the annual shows at the government propagating houses that attract the interests of Washingtonians and visitors; for, besides the exhibition of blooms, all kinds of samples of the handwork of the up-to-date florist are to be included. Set pieces, bouquets, table and mantle decorations, bridal bouquets, and other designs will be entered for competition.

Each day will be devoted to a special flower, so that there may be no monotony in the three days' display. Chrysanthemums, roses, and carnations each will be the flower of honor on one of the three days, and the whole scheme of the show suited daily to the change. A band concert is scheduled for each afternoon and evening.

NEW TREES SET OUT.

Twenty-five Hundred the Year's Record for Parking Commission.

Superintendent of Parking Lanham submitted his annual report to the Commissioners yesterday, in which it is shown that last year 2,574 young trees were planted in the streets, avenues, and roads of the District, a decrease of 658 from the number set out the previous year. The total expenditures of the office for the last year were $3,061.44.

It was recommended that the Commissioners ask Congress for the enactment of legislation providing that fines paid by persons for injuring trees be placed to the credit of the parking commission. The total fines collected last year were $482, and it is very likely that it will amount to $1,000 this coming year, a sum sufficient to pay the salary of the inspector.

FUNERAL OF M. J. DEPONAI.

Services in St. Stephen's Church Tomorrow Morning.

The funeral of Martin J. Deponai, U. S. A., retired, who died Friday at his home, 709 Twentieth street northwest, will take place to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock. Services will be conducted in St. Stephen's Church, and interment will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Mr. Deponai was born in France in 1833, and came to this country at the outbreak of the civil war. He served with the 12th New York Volunteers until the second battle of Bull Run, when he was severely wounded.

He is survived by three sons—Joseph G. Deponai, a member of the Chamber of Commerce of this city; Albert J. Deponai, also of this city, and John M. Deponai, a member of the editorial staff of the Baltimore American.

SEA MAKES HIM SICK.

Mr. Gillett Joins Panama Party at Key West.

Because the sad sea waves make him sick, Representative Gillett, of Springfield, Mass., will not join the last House Committee on Appropriations at New York when that party sails next Thursday for Panama, to conduct an investigation into the affairs of the canal.

By special dispensation, handed out generously by Secretary of War Taft, the government steamer will put in at the southernmost point on the Atlantic Coast to take Mr. Gillett aboard. The steamer would have stopped at Havana instead of Key West for Mr. Gillett had not Colon been quarantined.

Practically all the members of the committee, including Chairman Tawney, will make the trip. Chairman Tawney is authority for the statement that the President has authority to widen the canal, so as to admit the passage of such ships as the Dreadnought and the Lusitania, and that no action by Congress is necessary.

Here's a Strange Love Story.

The immortal case of John Alden was repeated in real life. It is an exquisite love episode and occurs in "The Iron Lord," S. R. Crockett's epoch-making novel. This paper, having acquired first publication rights to "The Iron Lord," will print it as a serial, beginning next Friday, prior to its appearance in book form.

Mr. Mattingly Reported Worse.

F. C. Mattingly, of 3230 N street northwest, who has been ill for two weeks, was reported in a worse condition yesterday. He is threatened with typhoid fever.
